

It's an easy choice to make.

Each year about one in five Americans gets the flu—and more than 36,000 die from it. Tragic? Yes, especially since most cases could have been prevented with a safe and simple flu shot. That's why doctors recommend an annual flu shot, especially if you're 50 or older. Why take a chance? Get the shot to protect you, your family, and others in the community around you.
